In traveling through out the USA it is nice to be able to get the weather report in the car particularly for the region you are going to. It allows you to adjust your schedule to miss storms or traffic congestions. You can also check on weather at home.

When a new innovation becomes available and it has proven to be useful, such as XM radio, common sense should prevail over those who are trying to find fault so they can benefit for there own personal gain.

It's the 21st century! Let us enjoy it's new technology.
